

Data Description

Data Number (will be filled by the Commons Center)	DPPSCdbp_2019-9en
Title	Revisiting the Japanese culture scales
Creator	Shinichiro Watanabe Hanna M. Chouchane
Contact information	Tel: +81-29-853-5379 e-mail: watanabe@sk.tsukuba.ac.jp
Summary (Subject and/or Methodology for generation)	Three hundred Japanese students at University of Tsukuba responded on the established measures of Japanese cultural facets, such as communitarianism , affective neutrality , high context , honne/tatemae , amae , giri/on , and hierarchical relationship management .
Update History (Versions, File names, Dates)	April 20, 2020
Data formats	Excel format (xlsx)
Data sizes	71432 Bits (b) (= 0.008515 Megabytes (mb))
Things to be aware of when using the data (e.g., required metadata)	Please refer to the source when using this data set.
Related reports and/or papers	Chouchane, H.M., & Watanabe, S. (2018). The Distinction between Surface and Deep Adjustment to Intercultural Adaptive Demands and the Role of Motivation in the Prediction of Adaptive Dissonance and Effort. The Japanese Association of Administrative Science 21st Annual Convention Proceedings (Nihon Keiei Kodo Kagaku Gakkai Dai 21-kai Nenji Taikai Ronbun-shu) , 201-206. Watanabe, S. & Kanazawa, Y. (in press). Trust building in the globalizing workplace of Japan. In C.T. Kwantes & B.C.H. Kuo (Eds.) (in press). Trust and Trustworthiness across Cultures: Implications for Societies and Workplaces . Cham, Switzerland: Springer.
Other remarks	